

Entering a UAS WebMeeting.

This example shows Internet Explorer on a Windows computer. If you use Firefox then you will get fewer alert messages.

- Go to the UAS Online website and click on the link WebMeeting in the Communications Toolbox.
- If you are not logged in yet to UAS Online: Enter your name (one which will be recognized by your instructor) and Click Join Meeting (if you are logged in you will not see this screen and the name from your profile will be used)
- Click Yes to any Security Alerts

Internet Explorer Only – the first time you enter a meeting a yellow alert bar shows “To help protect your security, Internet Explorer blocked this site from downloading files to your computer, Click here for options....”

Click on the Yellow Alert Bar and Choose “Download File” from the menu.
(This will only appear in Internet Explorer)

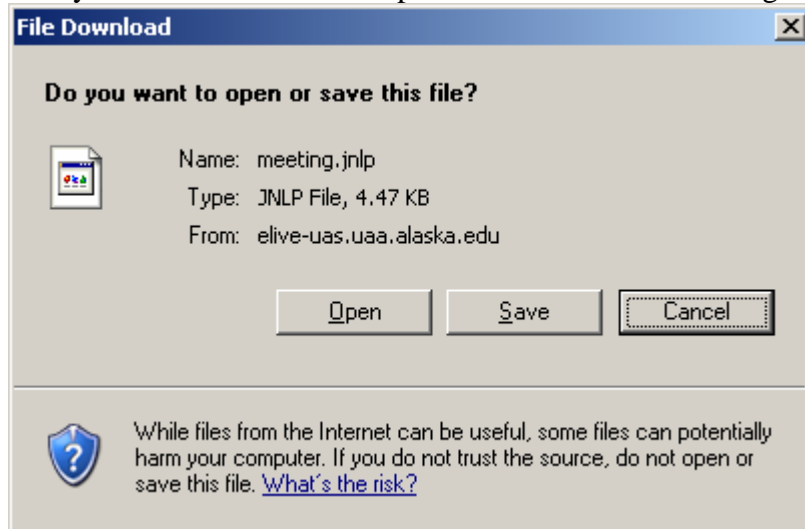

ON SOME COMPUTERS USING INTERNET EXPLORER

Due to a bug when you choose “Download File” -- nothing will happen. You will go back to the UAS Online Homesite page.

You will need to click on “WebMeeting” a SECOND time.

Repeat the process – enter your name if you are not yet logged in, click Yes for the Security Alert .. then you will get a dialog box asking you to Open or Save a file (See below)

In any browser -- Choose to Open the file rather than saving it.

You will get several warnings – you must accept or choose YES for all of them

Examples of Warnings – you will need to choose Yes or Okay

A Windows Security Alert that claims Windows Firewall will block some features may appear in some environments – click OK – in many cases it will not prevent Elluminate from working properly.

When you successfully enter the Elluminate Room you will see the virtual classroom and your name on the participant list in the upper left.

Internet Explorer: To prevent the Windows Yellow Alert Bar from appearing in the future you can add uascentral.uas.alaska.edu to your “Trusted Sites”

In Internet Explorer, from the Tools menu choose Internet Options

Then choose the Security tab

Click on Trusted Sites

Click on the Sites button

Type “<http://uascentral.uas.alaska.edu>” and click the Add button

Click OK

To test: close all browser windows and try going to the web meeting again – the yellow alert bar should no longer appear.
